Custom Coins Commemorate Campus Construction Projects

Cincinnati, OH – When officials at Florida State University acknowledge the teams of people who are responsible for the construction of new buildings or major renovation projects on campus, they have custom commemorate coins struck for the occasion. The coins, with a Florida State Logo on one side and a 3-dimensional depiction of the new or renovated structure on the reverse, are given to everyone involved in bringing the project to fruition. These unique mementos are cherished by the recipients, who appreciate the gesture and the uncommon nature of the gift.

Florida State has purchased custom coins from longtime supplier Awards4U, whose owner Sam Varn has helped design the coins as well as the serial coin programs.

“Custom coins are a great way to commemorate special occasion like new or renovated buildings,” says Awards4U owner Sam Varn, “everyone involved in the project appreciates being remembered with such a unique and collectible keepsake.”

The hefty coins are available in various metallurgies, including polished brass, bronze, antique Goldine® and even fine silver. Coins may be minted with a thickness to allow fine details of the artwork to stand out in deep relief. Packaging is available to further enhance the collectible nature of the coins.

Commemorative coins are an ideal way to memorialize the contributions of those involved with construction projects, as well as long-time teachers or coaches, or for championship teams and seasons.
